

DISCLAIMER OF LIABILITY WITH TERMS OF USE

Definitions: "Owner" means the owner, owner's agents, and authorized employees. Owner is: Paul & Jerry's Self-Storage, Inc. "User" is defined as you, the user of the site.

Based upon the current or future applicable laws pertaining to internet usage, the Owner renounces all warranties, expressed or implied, that would come from the use of this website. Information may be updated or changed without notice, so the Owner cannot guarantee the accuracy or current content contained within these pages. Since reference is given to link to other sites for informational purposes, the Owner will be held harmless by the User of these links for any endorsements, materials or documentation obtained from the linked entities. These links are provided only as a convenience to the User, and by accessing them, no way obligates the Owner to assume responsibility for use of third party links. The information on this website is meant to assist in the packing and storage of the User's individual-personal property and in no way commits or obligates the Owner to any damage resulting from any interpretation of the information obtained from this website or other third party links. All information is offered "as is" and no warranty of any kind is offered.